

NEW LONDON LABORATORY
NAVAL UNDERWATER SYSTEMS CENTER
NEW LONDON, CONNECTICUT 06320

AREA CODE 203
442-0771
AUTOVON 636 + EXT.
IN REPLY REFER TO:
MA22:RJM:seg
M(L)-310
28 June 1974

Mr. James F. Selvidio
427 New London Turnpike
Norwich, Connecticut 06360

Dear Jim:

Your long and devoted career with the Federal Government comes to a close upon the occasion of your retirement on 28 June 1974.

Your combined military and civilian service is something of which you may always be proud. Your civilian service began on 1 March 1945, and since that time your superior performance has been recognized through numerous promotions, including that leading to your present position as Head of the Center's Photographic Division.

During your career with the Naval Underwater Systems Center and the Navy Underwater Sound Laboratory, you have received many awards, letters of commendation, and other forms of recognition. These are but reflections of your personal dedication, extraordinary professionalism, and innovative skill in the application of photographic science to problems in military research and development.

You have indeed been an inspired member of our staff. On behalf of both the Navy and the Center, I extend my appreciation for all that you have contributed to our operations. Please accept my most cordial wishes for the years ahead.

Sincerely yours,

HENRY COX
Commander, USN
Officer in Charge